Mass Media and Popular Culture, Version 2 and Scanning Television

Author(s): Duncan, B.; D'Ippolito, J.; Macpherson, C.; Wilson, C.

General Description: The purpose of this resource is to help students develop a critical perspective by providing them with opportunities to explore, deconstruct, and interpret the nature and influence of media texts, as well as to create media texts. The set of resources contains the following:

Student Text: Mass Media and Popular Culture, Version 2

This student text examines how the media present images of global responsibility, race, and gender. It explores advertising and public relations techniques, and considers the increasing impact of media and popular culture on people's lives. The book discusses new and evolving technologies, as well as the traditional media: film, television, music, and print.

Resource Binder: Mass Media and Popular Culture, Version 2

The teacher's resource binder offers specific teaching suggestions to introduce thematic content and provides reproducible pages for assessment and evaluation of media and skills processes.

Videos and Teacher's Guide: Scanning Television: Videos for Media Literacy in Class

The videos and accompanying guide demonstrate the ways in which visual media carefully package social, political, and commercial messages that may or may not accurately reflect mainstream Canadian culture. The video segments demonstrate how the media are capable of manipulating and shaping values and how viewers can deconstruct the codes and techniques employed by television.

Caution: Teachers should preview each excerpt to determine its suitability for their particular classroom. The publisher identifies five excerpts with a Viewer Discretion Warning that alerts teachers to content that some viewers may consider sensitive or offensive. The National Film Board segment, "Watching T.V.", explores gun-related violence and may be particularly problematic for some viewers. Some information in the resource is dated, referring to the mid- 1990s. The publisher claims that these articles will be updated on a floppy disk every two years.
